SOC326H1F - Social Control

This course examines how society has gone about controlling specific types of deviants (e.g., gang members, sex and drug offenders) and acts of deviance (e.g., organized crime, the deviance of social control agents). In examining these individuals and acts, attention is also directed to why they are defined as deviant and sanctioned, and why some types of deviance are less likely to be detected and sanctioned than others. Finally, consideration is also given to a range of sanctions that have been used to control deviance and the empirical evidence on their effectiveness.

Estimated Enrollment: 25 students

Estimated TA Support: 88 hours

Class Schedule: Tuesdays & Thursdays, 6-9

Dates of Appointment: May 1, 2019 – June 30, 2019

Salary: $8,160 Sessional Lecturer I; $8,364 Sessional Lecturer I Long Term; $8,568 Sessional Lecturer II; $8,772 Sessional Lecturer III

Qualifications: PhD in Sociology required (or equivalent as demonstrated by refereed, published research). Strong academic record in area required. Superior undergraduate teaching at the university level directly related to the area is strongly preferred.

Description of Duties: The Sessional Lecturer in SOC326H1F is responsible for the preparation of the course syllabus, the preparation and presentation of course material. It is the duty of the Sessional Lecturer to attend regularly scheduled office hours. Sessional Lecturers are responsible for supervising the work of TA's assigned to this course; for preparing and evaluating course assignments, term tests, and the final examination; and for submitting final marks in accordance with University deadlines.

Application Procedure: All individuals interested in this position must submit a cover letter, Curriculum Vitae and the CUPE 3902 Application form, (which is available at: <http://forms.hrandequity.utoronto.ca/#recruitment>. Following the closing date, selected applicants may be asked to submit an annotated proposed syllabi for the course) to:
