Overview

One must refuse everything to the Jews as a nation and grant the Jews everything as individuals... Individually, they must be citizens.
—Stanislas de Clermont-Tonnerre, French National Assembly, debate on the eligibility of Jews for citizenship (1789)

Let us not look for the secret of the Jew in his religion.... An organization of society that would abolish the prerequisites of haggling...would make the [existence of the] Jew impossible.
—Karl Marx, On the Jewish Question (1844)

A corner of Palestine, a “canton,” how can we promise to be satisfied with it? We cannot. We never can. Should we swear to you we would be satisfied, it would be a lie.
—Vladimir Jabotinsky, Evidence Submitted to the Palestine Royal Commission (1937)

People plan and God laughs.
—Yiddish folk saying

The Jewish Question asks how Jews ought to adapt to the modern world. Seeking answers, Jews formulated competing ideologies and joined social and political movements that, they believed, would help them realize their dreams. This course examines the origins, development, implementation, successes and failures of the three main secular solutions Jews advocated: liberalism, communism and Zionism.

- Liberalism promoted the integration of Jews into democratic, capitalist societies with the same civil and political rights as non-Jews.
- Communism invited Jews to fight for the creation of a classless society in which, as Marx put it, each person would contribute “according to his ability” and receive “according to his needs.”
- Zionism advocated the founding of a sovereign state in the Jews’ ancient homeland.

The liberal, Zionist and communist dreams succeeded in some respects to live up to the expectations of their advocates. However, like most human endeavors, they failed in other respects, sometimes tragically. It is unlikely that this course will generate compelling answers to the Jewish Question for the 21st century. However, it may raise issues that prompt you to inquire further as you seek your own meaningful values and courses of action.

Readings
The following readings are required. Note that the first item (#0) should be read before the start of classes.

Books available for purchase at the U of T Textbook Store

Items available free of charge on the course website (via the U of T portal)
Movies
The movies listed below deal with inhuman cruelty and deep moral and political quandaries. In other words, they mirror life. Accordingly, viewer discretion is advised.

- Paradise Now (2005; Palestine and Israel; 1:31), screenplay by Hany Abu-Assad and Bero Beyer, starring Kais Nashif and Ali Suliman. This film won 13 film awards, including a Golden Globe Award for best foreign film, and was nominated for an Oscar. It portrays two Palestinian friends who are recruited for a suicide bombing in Tel Aviv during the second intifada. However, things go wrong, and the attackers follow separate paths.

- The Gatekeepers (2012; Israel; 1:41), documentary, directed by Dror Moreh, starring Ami Ayalon, Avraham Shalom and Avi Dichter. This film won 7 film awards including the Award of the Israeli Film Academy for best documentary, and it was nominated for an Oscar for best documentary. The three principals, all former heads of the Shin Bet, provide compelling arguments about how best to solve the Palestinian question.

- The Apprenticeship of Duddy Kravit (1974; Canada; 1:55), screenplay by Mordecai Richler, directed by Ted Kotcheff, starring Richard Dreyfus, based on Richler’s book of the same name (1959). This film won 4 film awards and was nominated for an Oscar. Benjy is a young Jew in 1940s Montreal whose father drives a taxi. While his rich uncle is putting Benjy’s brother through McGill medical school, Benjy must use his guile and street smarts to make it big. Along the way, he betrays a friend and loses his Québécoise girlfriend and much of traditional value.
Weekly Topics, Readings, and Films

Numbers preceded by a # correspond to the items listed above. Page numbers are in parentheses. The amount of required reading varies from week to week. Please plan accordingly. Films will be made available online and will be discussed in the class following the week in which they are viewed.

Plagiarism

Cheating and misrepresentation will not be tolerated. If you commit an academic offence, you will face serious penalties. Avoid plagiarism by citing properly. Practices acceptable in high school may be unacceptable in university. Know where you stand by reading the Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters at http://www.artsci.utoronto.ca/osai/The-rules/code/the-code-of-behaviour-on-academic-matters.

Attendance

Attendance at all classes is required. If you cannot attend a class due to illness or family emergency, obtain lecture notes from a classmate.

Optional essay submission

You cannot submit the optional essay by fax or email, nor can you hand in the optional essay to the receptionist at the Department of Sociology or the Centre for Jewish Studies. You must submit the optional essay to the Professor in person on the due date.

Deadline

The optional essay is due at the start of class on 4 December. Late work will not be accepted without proper documentation from your physician or college registrar (see “Documentation from physician or college registrar,” below). Without proper documentation, the penalty for late submission will be 2 percent per day.
Accessibility
If you require accommodation or have any accessibility concerns, please visit http://studentlife.utoronto.ca/accessibility as soon as possible.

Make-up test
If you miss the test you will receive a mark of zero unless, within three days of the test date, you give the TA a written request for special consideration that explains why the test was missed. Proper documentation from a physician or college registrar must accompany the request (see “Documentation from physician or college registrar,” below). The request should include your telephone number and email address so that the date, time and place of the make-up test can be communicated to you. If you miss the test and the subsequent make-up test you will not have a third opportunity to take the test. Instead, the grade assigned for the missed test will be the same as the combined grade you earn on the other methods of evaluation in the course (see “Evaluations,” above).

Documentation from physician or college registrar
If you miss the test or the optional essay deadline, do not contact the Professor or TA unless you have followed one of the procedures listed immediately below. Telling the Professor or the TA why you missed the test or the optional essay deadline is insufficient for receiving a new submission deadline or permission to write a make-up test.

In case of illness, complete a Verification of Student Illness or Injury form (available at www.illnessverification.utoronto.ca) or provide a doctor’s note that specifies the start and end date of the medical problem. The form or the note must be placed in a sealed envelope which is addressed to the Professor and submitted to the TA before class or during the TA’s office hours.

If a personal or family crisis prevents you writing the test or meeting the optional essay deadline, obtain a letter from your college registrar explaining the circumstances. Place the letter in a sealed envelope addressed to the Professor and submit it to the TA before class or during the TA’s office hours.

Academic Integrity
Academic integrity is fundamental to learning and scholarship at the University of Toronto. Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly and fairly in this academic community ensures that the U of T degree you earn will be valued as a true indication of your academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

Familiarize yourself with the University of Toronto’s Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters (http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/policies/behaveac.htm). It is the rule book for academic behaviour at U of T. You are expected to know the rules. Potential offences include, but are not limited to, the following:
Papers and assignments:
- using someone else’s ideas or words without appropriate acknowledgement;
- copying material (including lecture and study group notes) word-for-word from a source and not placing the words in quotation marks;
- submitting your own work in more than one course without the permission of the Professors in both courses;
- making up sources or facts;
- including references to sources you did not use;
- lending your work to a classmate who submits it as his/her own without your permission and without written acknowledgment to you on his/her submission;
- obtaining or providing unauthorized assistance on any assignment including working in groups on assignments that are supposed to be individual work and having someone rewrite or add material to your work while “editing.”

On tests and exams:
- using or possessing any unauthorized aid, including a cell phone;
- looking at someone else’s answers;
- letting someone else look at your answers;
- misrepresenting your identity;
- submitting an altered test for re-grading.

Misrepresentation:
- falsifying or altering any documentation required by the University, including doctor’s notes;
- falsifying institutional documents or grades.

To remind you of these expectations and help you avoid accidental offences, you are required to include a signed Academic Integrity Checklist with your optional essay. You will find a copy of the Academic Integrity Checklist on the last page of this course outline. If you do not include a completed Academic Integrity Checklist with your optional essay, your work will not be graded.

The University of Toronto treats cases of academic misconduct very seriously. All suspected cases of academic dishonesty will be investigated following the procedures outlined in the Code. The consequences for academic misconduct can be severe, including a failure in the course and a notation on your transcript. If you have any questions about what is or is not permitted in this course, please contact the Professor. If you have questions about appropriate research and citation methods, seek additional information from the Professor or from other available campus resources such as the U of T Writing Website at http://writing.utoronto.ca/. If you are experiencing personal challenges that are having an impact on your academic work, please speak to the Professor or seek the advice of your college registrar.

Professor Robert Brym

I, _______________________________, affirm that this assignment represents entirely my own efforts.

I confirm that:

☐ I have acknowledged the use of another’s ideas with accurate citations.
☐ If I used the words of another (e.g., author, instructor, information source), I have acknowledged this with quotation marks (or appropriate indentation) and proper citation.
☐ When paraphrasing the work of others, I put the idea into my own words and did not just change a few words or rearrange the sentence structure.
☐ I have checked my work against my notes to be sure I have correctly referenced all direct quotes or borrowed ideas.
☐ My bibliography includes only the sources used to complete this assignment.
☐ This is the first time I have submitted this assignment (in whole or in part) for credit.
☐ Any proofreading by another was limited to indicating areas of concern which I then corrected myself.
☐ This is the final version of my assignment and not a draft.
☐ I have kept my work to myself and did not share answers/content with others, unless otherwise directed by my instructor.
☐ I understand the consequences of violating the University’s academic integrity policies as outlined in the Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters.

By signing this form I agree that the statements above are true.

If I do not agree with the statements above, I will not submit my assignment and will consult the course instructor immediately.
