Statement of Acknowledgement
We acknowledge this sacred land on which the University of Toronto operates. It has been a site of human activity for 15,000 years. This land is the territory of the Huron Wendat and Petun First Nations, the Seneca, and most recently, the Mississaugas of the Credit River. The territory was the subject of the Dish With One Spoon Wampum Belt Covenant, an agreement between the Iroquois Confederacy and Confederacy of the Ojibwe and allied nations to peaceably share and care for the resources around the Great Lakes. Today, the meeting place of Toronto is still the home to many Indigenous people from across Turtle Island and we are grateful to have the opportunity to work in the community, on this territory. [Council of Aboriginal Initiatives, 2014]

Course Description

Grading Descriptions

Ongoing participation engagement
Students will have to submit written participation assignments (each worth 3%) to showcase active and ongoing engagement with course content. There will be, in total, six (6) assignment opportunities. Meaning, students can still receive the full 15% mark even if they are unable to submit one (1) of the participation assignments.

Participation assignment prompts will be assigned at the end of selected lectures and are due by midnight on Sunday. The prompts will vary: some might ask students, for example, to summarize portions of the readings and forward questions, while others might ask to reflect on more practical components and research implications.

Please note that no late participation assignments will be accepted for any reason. If you anticipate this being a problem (e.g., you receive academic accommodations that allow for the submission of late work), please reach out to the Course Instructor as soon as possible.

Take-home tests
The tests are non-cumulative. The first test will cover material from lecture and readings up to the date administered, while the second test will cover the remaining course content. For each test, students will be required to answer three (3) questions (each question answered in 2 pages, single-spaced). Details regarding the tests will be communicated in advance.

Research paper
For the research paper (5 to 6 pages, single-spaced), students must provide a comparative analysis of two cases. The chosen cases can be contemporary or historical examples drawn from either proximate or distant regions, as long as they are of similar scales (e.g., comparing two movements, cities, states, or countries). The main objective is to forward an argument, anchored in a theoretical framework to provide insight relative to the comparative empirical assessment of the two cases. Mode detailed guidelines will be shared on Quercus and discussed during lectures.

Late and Missed Test Policies

Handing in assignments
All assignments must be submitted electronically via Quercus. The instructor and TA will not accept electronic copies of assignments via email.
Deadlines
The assignments are due online via Quercus by 23:59 (11:59 p.m. EST) for the stated date. Please refer to the Due Dates stated on page 1 of the Syllabus and the Course Schedule.

Late tests and assignments
If a student misses a test or submit assignments later for medical reasons, the student must contact me (not the TA) within 2 days of the missed test or assignment and also declare their absence on ACORN. For other reasons, such as family emergencies or personal reasons, they must have the college registrar email me.

Accessibility
If you require accommodations or have any accessibility concerns, please visit http://studentlife.utoronto.ca/accessibility as soon as possible.

Student Responsibilities and Expectations

Email Policy
I will respond to your email within two business days (48 hours, except weekends and holidays). In an email exchanges, you must use your official University of Toronto email. Please also include the course code (SOC340) in the subject line and your full name and student number in your message. Please do not send a repeat email (e.g., “did you get my email?”).

In general, please treat emails as you would any other professional communication. You should be respectful in the way you address the instructor and the TA. Email is most suitable for questions that are clear, concise, and easily answerable. If you need help on course material, I strongly encourage you to attend office hours or make an appointment. For all general inquiries, please refer to the course syllabus.

Help from your Teaching Assistant
Your T.A. will hold scheduled office hours and respond to your emails. Please be judicious in your use of email. Use it only for questions that are brief and specific. Before sending a question by email, be sure to check the course outline to see if an answer is already available. Emails should not be seen as an alternative to doing the assigned reading or attending lectures. Expect to receive a response from your T.A. within two working days. For more in-depth discussions of the lectures, readings, tests and position papers, take advantage of your T.A.’s office hours.

Grade Appeals
The instructor and teaching assistants do their best to mark work fairly, consistently, and accurately. Nevertheless, one of us may unintentionally err in our marking duties. For basic mathematical errors, simply alert the TA of the error. In the case of more substantive appeals, you must wait at least 24 hours after receiving your mark. If you wish to appeal, please submit a thorough written explanation to your Instructor of why you think your mark should be altered. If your appeal is deemed appropriate, the entirety of your test/assignment will be re-graded. Please note that upon re-grade your mark may go down, stay the same, or go up. You have 7 days after receiving a mark to appeal it.
Academic Integrity
Academic integrity is fundamental to learning and scholarship at the University of Toronto. Participating honestly, respectfully, responsibly, and fairly in this academic community ensures that the U of T degree that you earn will be valued as a true indication of your individual academic achievement and will continue to receive the respect and recognition it deserves.

Familiarize yourself with the University of Toronto’s Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters (http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/policies/behaveac.htm). It is the rule book for academic behaviour at the U of T, and you are expected to know the rules.

The University of Toronto treats cases of academic misconduct very seriously. All suspected cases of academic dishonesty will be investigated following the procedures outlined in the Code. The consequences for academic misconduct can be severe, including a failure in the course and a notation on your transcript. If you have any questions about what is or is not permitted in this course, please do not hesitate to contact me. If you have questions about appropriate research and citation methods, seek out additional information from me, or from other available campus resources like the U of T Writing Website. If you are experiencing personal challenges that are having an impact on your academic work, please speak to me or seek the advice of your college registrar.
